an examination of the cognitive foundations of intuitions about the existence and attributes of god questions about the existence and attributes of god form the subject matter of natural theology which seeks to gain knowledge of the divine by relying on reason and experience of the world arguments in natural theology rely largely on intuitions and inferences that seem natural to us occurring spontaneously at the sight of a beautiful landscape perhaps or in wonderment at the complexity of the cosmos even to a nonphilosopher in this book helen de cruz and johan de smedt examine the cognitive origins of arguments in natural theology they find that although natural theological arguments can be very sophisticated they are rooted in everyday intuitions about purpose causation agency and morality using evidence and theories from disciplines including the cognitive science of religion evolutionary ethics evolutionary aesthetics and the cognitive science of testimony they show that these intuitions emerge early in development and are a stable part of human cognition de cruz and de smedt analyze the cognitive underpinnings of five well known arguments for the existence of god the argument from design the cosmological argument the moral argument the argument from beauty and the argument from miracles finally they consider whether the cognitive origins of these natural theological arguments should affect their rationality
